sionally for some years, who still are held on the reserve lists of the clubs that they last drew salary from. Mr. Doyle, of Brooklyn; Westervelt, of New York; and Thornton, of Chicago, being notable examples. According to the way Mr. Hart has of thinking, a lifetime is too long for a club to hold on to a man, and too long a period for a player to be with one club. Consequently he would have the League legislate so that after a player had served three or five years with one team he would be free to sign where he pleased. This would allow the stars to swing around the circle and give every club the benefit of their services. However, in passing a law of this kind they should be careful to provide that there should be no bidding for the services of such players as are released. This would lead to ruinous salaries being paid, and instead of being a benefit to the clubs, the rule would be a decided detriment.

PRESIDENT KEMPER HERE.

He Comes to Look After the Business of His Company.

Mr. J. R. Kemper, of Staunton, president of the Long Distance Telephone Company of Virginia, and Mr. S. M. Shepherd, a prominent Commonwealth and Ohio farmer, and Augusta county, are registered at Murphy's. Mr. Kemper comes to look after some matters in connection with his company, and will probably leave to-night.

He said last night that his people had placed enough stock to organize his company, and that the stockholders would meet in Staunton next Tuesday, and confirm the board of directors and officers of the company, which had already been selected.

Mr. Kemper said they proposed to push the work of building their lines as rapidly as possible, and hoped to have their main lines in operation by the end of the year.

He said they were receiving bids now, for wire, poles and other building materials, and that they had already more than $200,000 subscribed, when the charter only prescribes that amount.

"This," said Mr. Kemper, "is only a starter. We have plenty of home capital behind the company, and have had offers of strong financial aid from Northern people if we shall need it."

"The first lines will be established," said Mr. Kemper, "between the principal cities, and then in the working order by the first of the year."

BRILLIANT LAWN PARTY.

Members of the Jefferson Club Entertain Their Friends.

The members of the Jefferson Club tendered a lawn party to their friends last night at the club, on Marshall Street, between Eighth and Ninth. It has been the custom of the club to give some party on the night of July 4th, and this was their regular annual entertainment. The beautiful lawn on the eastern side of the clubhouse was lighted with Japanese lanterns, and it was under the soft glow of these that the ladies and gentlemen gathered and made merry during the evening.

The eastern portion of the club was appropriately decorated with United States flags, and a splendid string band furnished the music.

The entertainment, which was an admirable managed affair, was under the supervision of the club's executive committee.

The members of the club were most hospitable to their guests, and the evening was most enjoyable.

The club's executive committee is to be congratulated for the success of the party.

Williams' wife with a knife in the row. At a coroner's inquest it developed, through a witness, that Williams made the remark: "Didn't I tell you to keep away from my wife?" And immediately following the remark came the report of a pistol shot.

Williams remained within easy touch of the vicinity for several days, but finally disappeared from the neighborhood and from the State.

"Squire J. T. Trussell made an effort to capture him, but failed, and he urged the Governor to offer a reward for his apprehension."

A reward of $100 was accordingly offered for his capture.

The negro, when arrested here, was working as a laborer on the Seaboard Air Line Road.

On the way to the Station-House yesterday morning Williams confessed to Sheriff Williams and Captain Whitlock, but declared he felt justified in killing the negro, because of his actions towards his wife.
